Call for Papers and Proposals

China Accounting and Finance Review
CAFR 2016 Special Issue Conference
November 3–4, 2016, Hong Kong

Conference Theme:
What Makes Chinese Financial Markets Special?

Keynote Speaker: Avanidhar (Subra) Subrahmanyam
Distinguished Professor of Finance at UCLA & CAFR Consulting Editor

All papers and research proposals addressing either finance or accounting issues related to the conference theme are welcome.

Paper and Proposal Submission:

An electronic version of completed working papers in PDF or DOC format should be sent to Ms Amy Kwan at amy.vm.kwan@polyu.edu.hk by August 1, 2016. On the cover page, please also include an abstract, keywords and JEL codes.

Though not required, authors are encouraged to submit clear and concise proposals on their planned research topic, in order to receive feedback from the CAFR editorial board. Proposals should be submitted electronically to Ms Amy Kwan by February 1, 2016 (early enquiries and proposal submissions are welcome).

Papers and proposals submitted to CAFR should be written in English. All accepted papers must be original contributions, that is, not previously published or under review for publication elsewhere. Authors will be notified of the review result by September 5, 2016. One presenter of each accepted paper in regular plenary sessions will be reimbursed travel expenses up to US$1400 (overseas) or US$700 (Mainland China, Taiwan or Macau) and provided with accommodation (single occupancy) for three nights.

For enquiry, please contact Ms Helen Chan at helen.hk.chan@polyu.edu.hk
Established in 1999, China Accounting and Finance Review (CAFR) is the first refereed journal of accounting and finance published in the Greater China Region. CAFR is published quarterly by the School of Accounting and Finance at The Hong Kong Polytechnic University, with its emphasis on disseminating accounting and finance research from China to the international community, and vice versa. To this end, CAFR welcomes high-quality submissions of general interests in all areas of accounting and finance.

All subject areas of accounting and finance research (not limited to China), and all research methodologies, be they analytical, behavioral, conceptual, empirical, or experimental, are within the ambit of the journal. The overriding concern is the rigorous study of important issues in accounting and finance. Besides what might be termed traditional research, CAFR especially welcomes original and innovative research in accounting and finance.

Starting from 2015, there will be two Best Paper Awards (1 Accounting and 1 Finance) every year for CAFR papers published in the previous year, which will be awarded at CAFR’s annual conference.
